In Trust With The Gospel

Elder Keith Ellis

Contextual "All Things"

And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to [his] purpose. [Rom 8:28 KJV]

This text must be rightly divided. It must not be lifted from the context of the surrounding verses.

If you ignore these simple principles you will create a monster doctrine making God the author of sin and a house divided against Himself. This can not be.

Good and evil DO NOT work together, they are diametrically opposed to one another.

The "ALL THINGS" in Rom 8:28 are contextual.

What shall we then say to these things? If God [be] for us, who [can be] against us? [Rom 8:31 KJV]

What things?

Being foreknown, predestinated, called, justified and glorified. These are the "all things" that work for our good.
